iSALUS Healthcare Launches New EMR iPhone® Mobile Application

INDIANAPOLIS [August 16, 2010] – iSALUS Healthcare, one of the country’s top web-based Electronic Medical Records (EMR) and Practice Management software companies that exclusively focuses on small and medium sized physician practices, today announced the launch of an iPhone mobile application. The new HIPAA-compliant mobile EMR service allows doctors to access critical patient records and office information from their iPhones.

iSALUS’ new mobile EMR application enables physicians to securely access real-time patient information such as progress notes, medical images, contact and insurance information. It also provides doctors and practice managers with access to office items such as schedules, rounds, task lists, dictations, patient charges and office communications.

“It’s easy, select one option and our new mobile EMR application provides physicians with immediate access to all their patient charts, select another and they can be reviewing the financial performance of their practice” said Michael Hall, president and founder of iSALUS Healthcare. “We are continuously investing in the development of new features and services to enhance our software. We are one of the industry’s only web-based EMR and Practice Management software companies to offer its entire suite of products for one affordable monthly fee.”

The new iPhone application is included as part of iSALUS’ comprehensive web-based EMR-EHR and practice management software subscription. With this new application, iSALUS’ clients have mobile access to the company’s suite of software tools as well as many special features designed for mobile users.
